BLIZZARD HITS CHICAGO AREA, HALTS TRAFFIC

Worst Storm Of Winter Moves Into Midwest From Canada

ZERO MARK EXPECTED

Heavy Fog Impedes Motor Travel In Central Ohio Early Monday

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—The worst blizzard of the Winter swept down on Chicago today and within a few hours had the city fighting to avert a serious traffic tieup.

Driven by winds of nearly gale

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 30—Nurses held flickering candles over the operating table at Springfield hospital today, to enable physicians to finish suturing the wounds of an injured motorist. Electric service at the hospital and in the northern section of the city was disrupted for several hours by a driving blizzard.

strengthen the snow struck shortly after midnight and the intensity of the storm grew throughout the early morning traffic lull.

The city awoke to find its way barred by rolling drifts that continued to pile higher as the snow raged unabated.

Elevated, surface lines, motor coaches and railroads called out emergency crews in an effort to keep the streets and right of ways open for the morning rush.

Despite their efforts, some forms of transportation were behind schedule and motorists in outlying sections found many roads impassable.

All airplanes were grounded at the municipal airport and flights into Chicago were canceled.

Cold Wave On Way

Forecasters C. A. Donnel predicted a flat snowfall of four inches and perhaps more. He said a severe cold wave with temperatures around the zero mark was moving down from northwestern Canada and may reach the city by tomorrow.

Fog Blankets Big Area; Traffic Hit

Snow and colder weather were predicted for late Monday to follow a "warm" spell that put Circleville and Pickaway county in a heavy blanket of fog Sunday night. The temperature hit 46 degrees Sunday afternoon and dropped only three degrees during the night. Rainfall from Saturday night until 8 a. m. Monday amounted to 1.3 inches, the heaviest recorded in several months.

Dewey's Claims Against Circuit Judge Prepared For Impeachment Trial

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Charges by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey that U. S. Circuit Court Judge Martin T. Manton or corporations in which he was financially interested had received more than $400,000 from individuals or concerns involved in litigation in his court today were enroute to Rep. Hatton W. Sumners, of Texas, chairman of the house judiciary committee.

For the last 12 months, Dewey wrote Sumners to whom he submitted six specific charges, his office has been investigating Judge Manton's accounts "with a view to possible prosecution" under the New York state income tax laws.

MOTHER, 12, AND HER BABY GAIN IN LIFE'S FIGHT

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—As authorities today debated on what should become of 12 year old Jennie Renello Rota and her baby, death still stood by waiting to settle the problem in its own way.

Both the child wife and her infant daughter remained in a critical condition at the Loretta hospital, but each hour that passed found them stronger and with a better chance of surviving.

Apparently dead when born Saturday, the 4-pound 11-ounce baby was revived by injections of a heart stimulant and use of a trachea catheter into its lung to permit breathing. It has since been kept in an incubator.

Outside the door of the room where Jennie continued to fight for breath under an oxygen tent, paced the 24 year old husband, Frank Rota, with whom she eloped last Summer.

As soon as the marriage became known, the couple was separated by the juvenile authorities. Rota was ordered to remain away from his wife until she became of age but the rule was relaxed when their child was born.

Both hoped it would be the means of bringing them back together. In one of her first conscious moments, the girl whispered:

"Can we have our own home now? Will the judge let me have Frank?"

Rota, who met and wooed Jennie when she was in the seventh grade and he was a roomer in the Renello home, was joined by the girl's parents in wishing that the ban would now be lifted.

"It's foolish for her to go back to school, as the court told her to," said Frank. "She's already had more education than I had. I only went through sixth grade."

FRANKFURTER ON BENCH AS NEW COURT MEMBER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard university today donned the flowing black robe of an associate justice of the supreme court.

The new justice took his seat with a minimum of ceremony, in a courtroom filled with high government officials, friends and sightseers.

The oath of a justice was administered in the courtroom, after the usual constitutional oath taken by every federal office holder was administered in the robing room.

PAROLE BOARD REVISION BILL TO OUST MYRNA

New Organization Considered In Effort To Remove Former Davey Aide

LEVIES TO BE EXTENDED

Republican Chairmen Look For More Patronage With Schorr Taking Over

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—The four-week old 93rd general assembly returned to the capital today to pass the $5,000,000 stop gap relief bill, extend the cigaret and liquid fuel taxes and consider various types of reorganization legislation.

First of the "ripper" bills to hit the hopper this week was expected to be one reorganizing the tax commission and drafted by Sen. Frank E. Whittemore (R-Akron) senate majority leader.

Another was being drafted which would tear down the present parole board and set up a new one, the object being to oust Mrs. Myrna Smith from the $6,000 a year parole board job to which former Governor Davey appointed her just before he left office.

Feb. 13 Deadline
Meanwhile, several legislators worked on bills which they intend to send to the hoppers before Feb. 13, the bill introduction deadline. Several meritorious measures were said to be included in the lot, but a larger percentage will never see light.

The senate, which has had little work to do while the house was busy getting legislation moving, has both the relief bill and the tax extender proposals for consideration.

The tax bills have been recommended for passage, but the senate taxation committee was scheduled to work on the relief bill after the 7:30 o'clock session tonight. It was possible that several sections of the relief bill, which was passed by the house last week, will be amended before the senators vote on it.

Far from the cares of state, Governor John W. Bricker was being entertained in Topeka, Kan., awaiting the hour of a Republican dinner tonight when he will be the chief speaker at the party's annual "love feast."

Bricker's arrival was the signal for former U. S. Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas to open a one-man boom for Ohio's governor as (Continued on Page Two)

DOG QUARANTINE TO CONTINUE FOR REST OF YEAR

Rabies quarantine regulations will be in effect on Pickaway county dogs for the remainder of 1939.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, announced Monday that all dogs that have not received anti-rabic immunization administered by a registered veterinarian, within the last 12 months, must be kept penned to comply with the order. Owners of dogs treated will be given a certificate showing the treatment has been given and a tag will be provided to be placed on the dog. The quarantine regulations are being continued, Dr. Blackburn said, due to numerous stray dogs in the county. The old quarantine expired Jan. 1. Dogs in the county had been under quarantine during practically the entire year of 1938. Six cases of rabies were reported.

Dr. Blackburn said it was likely that an effort will be made to enforce statutes against permitting dogs to run at large at night.

The quarantine was authorized by the county board of health.

HIS home in flames, Clifford Morris, 5, of Sanlick, Va., (near St. Charles), proved himself a hero. He made three trips into the blazing home and each time tottered out with one of the three younger children in his arms. Clifford re-enacts his hero role with baby Jerry in his arms.

VILLAGE POSTAL ROBBERY REPORT PROVES UNTRUE

Much excitement was created in the police and sheriff's departments Monday about 6 a. m. when a telephone report was received that the postoffice in Stoutsville was being burglarized. Officers later learned it was a false report.

The call was received by the police department. Sheriff Charles Radcliff was called and he in turn notified the sheriff of Fairfield county. Sheriff Radcliff later learned from residents of the village and the sheriff of Fairfield county that the report was false.

Sheriff Radcliff said he learned some men were standing in front of the building waiting to go to work. The sheriff believed someone apparently thought the group planned to burglarize the office.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT TO WIN PAY INCREASE

County Commissioner C. E. Wright receives a raise in pay this month. He is the only commissioner to receive the salary boost.

Mr. Wright, who began his new term of office on Jan. 1, wins the salary increase due to a new law fixing salaries for county commissioners. He will be paid $1,500 a year. The salary is based on the population of the county. He receives $60 for each 1,000 persons of the first 15,000 and $50 per thousand persons over the first 15,000. Pickaway county's population is estimated at 27,000 persons.

Mr. Wright's previous salary was $1,338.60. Ralph E. May and John Keller, other members of the board, continue on that salary until they complete their present terms in two years.

The new law, fixing the salaries of the commissioners, became effective Aug. 5, 1937 and does not provide for an increase of salary of board members until they begin new terms.

None of the members on the board knows how the salaries of $1,338.60 had been established.

Berlin Hears That Recent Nervousness May Be Eased

FUTURE COURSE STUDIED

Goebbels Starts Program With Address To Children

BERLIN, Jan. 30—With a personal tribute to Adolf Hitler and the achievements of his regime, Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels today sounded the overture of vast celebrations marking the beginning of year VII of Nazi rule in the Reich.

But what the world anxiously awaited was the address of the fuhrer himself, in which Hitler tonight will trace his record for two hours and outline Germany's foreign and domestic policies for the forthcoming year.

As the hour for Hitler's speech before the first great German Reichstag approached, there were indications that the world's nervousness of the last fortnight was not justified. The speech will be of great importance, well-informed quarters indicated at the last moment, but it was believed it would contain nothing explosively sensational.

Children Hear Goebbels

Goebbels spoke to children of the elementary schools in the workmen's quarter of northern Berlin, and his voice was carried by radio throughout the nation. After his talk, all schools were dismissed.

"Germany today is respected, or at least feared, everywhere," said Goebbels.

"It has staged a magnificent recovery economically, has gained social security, and is flourishing culturally."

The fact that Goebbels was chosen to make the keynote speech on this day of days in the Nazi calendar was significant, since foreign reports have been persistent that the propaganda minister was about to be demoted and that, amid several other shifts, Hitler today would announce appointment of Field Marshal Hermann Goering as vice-chancellor.

Shake-up Denied

Repeatedly, when questioned on those reports, German officials denied that any shake-up was planned.

Hitler's speech runs about 200 typewritten pages, with about two thirds devoted to domestic affairs and the remainder to foreign problems.

Official and unofficial American reaction to last year's events in central Europe may be touched on; also the Mediterranean, eastern European, Spanish, Jewish, and other questions.

There is some reason to believe that Hitler will be not so outspoken in supporting Italian designs as it is hoped in Rome. One reason for this, it is said, is that Premier Mussolini has not yet informed Hitler of the extent to which Italy is ready to go following the insurgent victory in Catalonia.

NEUTRALITY ACT REVISION MAY AID TWO ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Congress will be urged to re-vamp the neutrality act to enable Great Britain and France to obtain unlimited war supplies from American airplane and munitions factories in event the two democracies are forced into a war by totalitarian powers.

This was revealed exclusively today to International News Service by an unimpeachable authority in congress.

A new neutrality act has been secretly prepared for submission to congress which would open the flood gates of America's vast resources to the democracies. At the same time, the administration contends, the proposed act would keep the United States strictly neutral.

HITLER'S HEALTH HAS NAZI FRIENDS WORRIED

LONDON, Jan. 30—Chancellor Hitler's health again is giving rise to anxiety among his friends, the Daily Mail reported today from Berlin. There are indications, said the Mail, that the Fuhrer may submit to a second operation on his throat in the near future, as it is believed Hitler is suffering from a slight thickening of the vocal chords.

FRENCH TROOPS UNABLE TO HALT REFUGEE FLOOD

PERPIGNAN, France, Jan. 30—Struggles of 7,000 French troops proved as unavailing today as the fabled commands of King Canute and the rising tide of suffering refugees from Catalonia rolled on their fate, and utterly miserable ward into France.

Starved, ill-clothed, dazed at in a chill rain, about 46,000 Spaniards have poured across the frontier, and of these it is estimated that some 10,000 are deserters from the army.

The French soldiers made little attempt to halt the civilian refugees in spite of the problem they present to France, but concentrated on herding them into shelters and clearing the jammed roads for the transport of foods.

Attempts were made by the French, however, to turn back the discouraged government soldiers who streamed into France through several mountain passes.

Refused admission at Perthus, the main point of entry, and Cerebere, several hundred discouraged militiamen, long inured to suffering, merely marched to other passes and reentered France. Hundreds of others surrendered their weapons and were given permits to remain in France 24 hours.

When the permits expired, the Spaniards simply refused to move, and there was no one to give orders to use force.

FAMILY OF SIX DIES AS FLAMES DESTROY HOME

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30—Smoldering ruins and charred bodies were all that remained today of a family of six after a fire of undetermined origin trapped Mr. and Mrs. Everett Frost and their four children in a cottage at nearby Newton.

Although police at first suspected foul play, Coroner Frank M. Coppock, Jr., said he found no marks on the charred bodies to indicate violence before the smoke and flames reached them. His verdict was accidental deaths due to suffocation.

In addition to Frost, 32 year old railroad section foreman, and his wife, Gladys, 28, the dead were Kenneth Lyle, 9 months; Velma Louis, 4; Eugene, 9 and Ernest Everett, 10.

Volunteer firemen, called to the cottage at 3 a. m. by a neighbor, were ignorant of the fact that the family had been trapped until the flames were under control. Playing a stream of water into the front room, two firemen discovered the body of Eugene. The other bodies were discovered a short time later.

Mrs. Frost was found in a kneeling position beside her bed in a rear room. In a crib beside her bed was the body of the youngest child.

Frost and Mrs. Frost were known to have been awake three hours before the blaze was discovered. The couple had left the home of friends at midnight to go home to their children.

FAMILY OF SIX DIES AS FLAMES DESTROY HOME

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30—Smoldering ruins and charred bodies were all that remained today of a family of six after a fire of undetermined origin trapped Mr. and Mrs. Everett Frost and their four children in a cottage at near-by Newton.

Although police at first suspected foul play, Coroner Frank M. Coppock, Jr., said he found no marks on the charred bodies to indicate violence before the smoke and flames reached them. His verdict was accidental deaths due to suffocation.

In addition to Frost, 32 year old railroad section foreman, and his wife, Gladys, 28, the dead were Kenneth Lyle, 9 months; Velma Louis, 4; Eugene, 9 and Ernest Everett, 10.

Volunteer firemen, called to the cottage at 3 a. m. by a neighbor, were ignorant of the fact that the family had been trapped until the flames were under control. Playing a stream of water into the front room, two firemen discovered the body of Eugene. The other bodies were discovered a short time later.

Mrs. Frost was found in a kneeling position beside her bed in a rear room. In a crib beside her bed was the body of the youngest child.

Frost and Mrs. Frost were known to have been awake three hours before the blaze was discovered. The couple had left the home of friends at midnight to go home to their children.

UNITED STATES TOPS WORLD IN ABILITY IN AIR

American Planes Superior Although Other Powers Have Huge Numbers

RUSSIA RANKS SECOND

Japan Seventh In Lineup, With Germany After Soviet

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The United States is the first ranking military airpower in the world in strength if not in numbers, a comprehensive survey of foreign nations indicated today.

Reliable military evidence, gathered from unauthorized aviation sources in England and on the continent, revealed that from a view of potential strength, the nations of the world stand as follows:

- One—United States
  - Two—Russia
  - Three—Germany
  - Four—Britain
  - Five—Italy
  - Six—France
  - Seven—Japan
- Russia with 4,500 planes has more ships than any other power in the world—but analysis shows that less than 2,500 of this number can be classified as "first line" planes.

Although other nations, namely the totalitarian states of Germany and Italy, eclipse America in the number of planes, the survey of the performing ability of the aircraft of the various powers indicates Uncle Sam's fighting air superiority.

American Bombers Supreme American-built bombers and pursuit ships have a greater flying range, and equal in performance anything that foreign military flying corps have to offer.

As testimony of the United States' superiority, many nations, principally France, Russia, and Great Britain, are turning to America with orders for warplanes. Spanish war observers admit that American planes, principally the bullet-spitting Boeings, have proved more than a match for the famous death-riders of the sky—the German Messerschmidts and the Italian Savoias.

The "mystery power" of Germany and Italy is pure myth and the product of government-inspired propaganda. Military experts, who are in a position to know the truth about the jealously-guarded air defense secrets, admit that the German Reich and Italy are better equipped for war today than their rivals, but that they have no super-strength.

Need a Short War Hitler and Mussolini, the experts contend, can only win an aerial war of short duration, and that in any lengthy world conflict, they would unquestionably meet defeat.

Pierre Cot, former Air Minister of France, and one of the best informed military aviation experts in Europe, epitomized the situation of a hypothetical war with the declaration:

"From an industrial angle, the situation is as follows—the war material production of Germany and Italy is greater than that of the democracies. This is because the Reich and Italy are partly mobilized industrially. Their rearmament is more intensive than that of the democracies."

The navies of Great Britain and France could readily cut off the dictators' supplies, Cot believes, thereby exercising a paralyzing effect on plane replacements.

Nazi Air Power Although Reich officials have issued statements to the contrary, Germany today has 3,200 planes, and, at present, an alarming shortage of reserve pilots. Italy has 3,000 planes, fifty per cent of them bombers, and the largest pilot reserve in Europe.

Great Britain, now launched in a program of raising her air strength to 5,000 planes by 1941, has 2,500 ships at the present moment. France, also plunged in a program of air rearmament, has slightly fewer warplanes than England.

The United States' air force is comparable in numerical strength to that of Great Britain. Military experts, however, admit that the American ships are superior.

One high aviation authority, too close to official circles to be identified, declared:

"There is little doubt about the superiority of American planes. There is not a government in Europe that wouldn't swap its air corps for the American air arm and its potentialities."

WALLACE, OTHER CROP EXPERTS FACE QUIZZING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and A.A.A. experts will be summoned before the house committee in the near future to reveal the administration program for disposition of huge agricultural surpluses.

In spite of the clamor among groups for drastic revision of the whole program, the committee is expected to first consider many schemes to cut down surpluses. The committee swung into action today for what may be a protracted battle over farm relief.

Experts of the department of agriculture and A. A. A. are now considering many plans to dispose of wheat, cotton and other surplus crops.

Secretary Wallace, members of the committee said, has been informed that there is no possibility of congress sanctioning the original "two-price system" of selling products to poorer sections of the population at reduced price.

DR. R. H. MARKWITH NAMED OHIO HEALTH DIRECTOR

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—The last vacancy in the Bricker cabinet was filled today when Dr. R. H. Markwith, 44, a native of Greenville, was appointed state health director.

Since 1921 Dr. Markwith, who succeeds Dr. Walter Hartung, of Toledo, has been health commissioner of Summit county. He formerly was a resident physician at Protestant hospital (now White Cross) in Columbus.

Dr. Markwith's salary will be $6,500 a year. He was graduated from Ohio State university in 1917, and took post graduate work at Rockefeller Institute, Yale university of Dijon, France, and Ohio State university.

During the World War he served overseas as a first lieutenant in the medical corps. He is married.

the party's presidential candidate in 1940.

"Governor Bricker is one of the ablest leaders to come to the front within recent years," Allen said. "He distinguished himself first as assistant attorney general, and later, as attorney general, of Ohio."

Gossip Inevitable "It is inevitable that there should be gossip connecting his name with the nomination for the presidency in 1940, since he comes from a state that has furnished so many presidents and is, himself, in every way worthy of consideration."

Republican county chairmen seeking patronage for their faithful followers were waiting for Wednesday, Feb. 1, the date when patronage distribution is supposed to pass from Bricker to State Chairman Ed D. Schorr.

The various chairmen saw in the shift the hope that those who got out the vote last November will have a better chance for employment under Schorr's direction than has proved the case under Bricker.

NEW STREAMLINE ATOM-SMASHER AIDS RESEARCH

ITHACA, N. Y.—Cornell University physicists have developed a new "streamlined" atom-smasher which is expected to prove a more versatile and effective tool in atomic research than any other previously constructed.

The new instrument consists only of a short wave radio generator operating through a tube eight feet long by six inches in diameter, compared to the 100-ton bulk of the standard type. Professor Lloyd P. Smith of the university physics department said the machine is capable of about per second.

A heavier bombardment is expected to be possible through it although the particles fired will move at a slower rate of speed. The former type of atom smasher was mainly limited to investigation of the helium and deuterium (heavy hydrogen) atoms but the Cornell investigators now hope to break down other elements.

MRS. ELIZABETH PONTIUS DIES AT HOME OF HER SON

Mrs. Elizabeth Pontius, 83, widow of Reuben Pontius, died Sunday at 1:30 of complications at the home of her son, Clifford, near Ashville.

Surviving in addition to the son are the following children: Mrs. Bessie Cartledge of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Mrs. Eleanor Drago of New York city; Mrs. Minnie Keller of Woodstock, O.; Bundy and Samuel of Circleville and Rolland of Laureville. A daughter, Mrs. Nellie Seymour and a son, Forrest, preceded their mother in death.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the White church near Kingston, burial to be in the adjoining cemetery by Donald E. Whitel. Friends may view the body at the Adams home in Kingston after 1 p. m. on Tuesday.

Weinberg Suicide Hurts Dewey's Hines Testimony

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—George Weinberg's spectacular suicide today silenced the story which District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had planned to draw from his lips within a few days to help clinch his case against James J. Hines, the Tammany politician.

Brooding over the uncertain future that awaited him both at the hands of the law which he freely admitted violating and the underworld whose code he broke by "squealing," Weinberg outwitted his guards and sent a bullet through his head. He ended his life in a rambling old mansion in White Plains where Dewey had been holding him in "protective custody" along with Richard (Dixie) Davis and Harry (Big Harry) Schoenhaus, his fellow state-witnesses against Hines.

Weinberg casually excused himself from the group which included a half dozen special detectives in the carefully guarded house, walked upstairs to a bedroom where he removed a .38 calibre revolver from a secret pocket in the overcoat of Joseph Kaitz, one of Dewey's special investigators, and then went to the bathroom where he liquidated himself. He seated himself on the floor, braced his body against the bathtub by pushing his feet against the wall, took careful aim in a full length mirror, and fired. He never regained consciousness.

Davis, counsel for the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz) Fleggenheimer's $2,000,000 policy racket for which Hines is accused of providing political protection, and Schoenhaus, the Schultz bookkeeper, were rushed to a new hide-away by Dewey. He said the guards assigned to them would be immediately doubled.

Dewey confidently predicted the would be able to introduce the damaging statement against Hines that Weinberg made at the Tammany politician's first trial at the second trial now in progress. But Lloyd Paul Stryker, Dewey's counsel, said he will fight such action because his client would be denied the right of cross-examination. "At any rate," the crestfallen Dewey admitted, "it will not be like having the man himself on the stand."

Kaitz, a dewey investigator with an excellent record, was immediately suspended pending an investigation to determine whether he was guilty of neglect or laxity. "Suicide by gunshot wound," was the official verdict of Dr. Amos O. Squire, medical examiner for Westchester county. In terse phraseology it marked finish to the career of a self-confessed gangster born 38 years ago into poverty on the lower East side of New York, orphaned at nine and already an ex-convict with a record at 21. Weinberg never got into the real money, however, until he joined up with Dutch Schultz. His brother, Abe (Bo) Weinberg, was Schultz's bodyguard, and for that task he was reputedly rewarded with a concrete filled coffin that carried him to the bottom of the East river.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, January 30 MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST holds testimonies of adverse as well as benefic conditions, with much stirring to keep the day one of excitement and adventure. There may be difficulties arising from extravagance, self-indulgence, impetuosity and probable violence. This may lead to troublesome debts, quarrels, loss and litigation, with reactions on social and business standing.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to run into a year of much perturbation, tumult, strife, self-indulgence and excessive expenditures, all of which may cause loss of social and business prestige, coupled with litigation. An exciting and drastic year with squandered forces unless control and restraint be exercised is forecast.

A child born on this day will be virile, talented, but impetuous, turbulent, indulgent, extravagant and pleasure-loving, unless given early discipline and direction.

THREE PERSONS CRITICALLY HURT IN "EL" ACCIDENT

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Three persons were probably fatally injured today when two Chicago elevated trains crashed in a raging blizzard that virtually paralyzed transportation throughout the Chicago region.

Police patrols and ambulances were delayed in reaching the scene of the accident by the deep snow and high winds, and details of the accident were meager.

The wrecked elevated trains were packed with commuters from Chicago's southwest side. Rescue workers were hindered by the lashing wind and the deep snow.

The critically injured were identified as:

- Frank Decker, 50, left leg badly crushed;
- Mrs. Bessie Dhuky, 45, extent of injuries unknown;
- Andrew Kallas, 40, internal injuries;
- James J. Eeman, 40, badly crushed;
- Paul Zigmam, 40, badly crushed.

Elevated lines officials reported at least a score of other passengers were injured.

Cut off from help for nearly an hour, the injured were stretched out on the elevated station platform at California and West Twenty-first street, high above the streets and vulnerable to the icy blasts.

Suffering and bleeding, their only protection was afforded by uninjured passengers who lined up to form a human windbreak.

FARM NEWS

Brief Items of Interest to Pickaway Farmers

Sales of wheat and flour for export from the United States between July 1, 1938 and January 15, 1939, totaled 78,400,000 bushels.

With eggs selling at very low prices in farm areas, housewives now can get exceptional food value for their dollars by using more eggs in baking and by serving more in the many attractive ways that eggs can be prepared.

Ohio farmers who are going to invest money in the purchase of fertilizers for next year's crops can get better value for their money if they obtain extension bulletin No. 139, "Fertilizing Field Crops in Ohio", from their county agricultural agent.

Corn belt farmers are feeding 7 percent more cattle than a year ago, and the 1937-38 numbers on feed were an increase of 15 percent over the preceding year. The western states and two states in the southwest have fewer cattle on feed now than a year ago.

Market gardeners who are seen in sweet corn fields operating an atomizer are not applying perfume to the plants. A few drops of light, highly refined mineral oil sprayed on the silks as soon as they have wilted will protect the ear from damage by the corn ear worm.

More than 80,000 farm families in 20 states are now participating in the medical care program which was initiated by the Farm Security Administration. A few groups also provide for hospital services and dental care. The cost of medical care under this plan varies from $20 to $30 per year, and the family chooses its physician from those available in the community.

"Governor Bricker is one of the ablest leaders to come to the front within recent years," Allen said. "He distinguished himself first as assistant attorney general, and later, as attorney general, of Ohio."

Gossip Inevitable

"It is inevitable that there should be gossip connecting his name with the nomination for the presidency in 1940, since he comes from a state that has furnished so many presidents and is, himself, in every way worthy of consideration."

Republican county chairmen seeking patronage for their faithful followers were waiting for Wednesday, Feb. 1, the date when patronage distribution is supposed to pass from Bricker to State Chairman Ed D. Schorr.

The various chairmen saw in the shift the hope that those who got out the vote last November will have a better chance for employment under Schorr's direction than has proved the case under Bricker.

The governor in his first three weeks in office slashed 2,000 persons, most of them Daveycrats, from the payrolls. And he says the jobs aren't going to be filled by Republicans.

NEW STREAMLINE ATOM-SMASHER AIDS RESEARCH

ITHACA, N. Y.—Cornell University physicists have developed a new "streamlined" atom-smasher which is expected to prove a more versatile and effective tool in atomic research than any other previously constructed.

The new instrument consists of a half dozen special detectors in the carefully guarded house, walk-up stairs to a bedroom where he removed a .38 calibre revolver from a secret pocket in the overcoat of Joseph Kaitz, one of Dewey's special investigators, and then went to the bathroom where he liquidated himself. He seated himself on the floor, braced his body against the bathtub by pushing his feet against the wall, took careful aim in a full length mirror, and fired. He never regained consciousness.

Davis, counsel for the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Flegenheimer's $2,000,000 policy racket for which Hines is accused of providing political protection, and Schoenhaut, the Schultz book-keeper, were rushed to a new hide-away by Dewey. He said the guards assigned to them would be immediately doubled.

MRS. ELIZABETH PONTIUS DIES AT HOME OF HER SON

Mrs. Elizabeth Pontius, 83, widow of Reuben Pontius, died Sunday at 1:30 of complications at the home of her son, Clifford, near Ashville.

Surviving in addition to the son are the following children: Mrs. Bessie Cartledge of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Mrs. Eleanor Drago of New York city; Mrs. Minnie Keller of Woodstock, O.; Bundy and Samuel of Circleville and Rolland of Laurelvile. A daughter, Mrs. Nellie Seymour and a son, Forrest, preceded their mother in death.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the White church near Kingston, burial to be in the adjoining cemetery by Donald E. Whitel. Friends may view the body at the Adams home in Kingston after 1 p. m. Tuesday.

COUNCIL'S PLEA FOR MORE MONEY GOES TO SENATORS

A request of city council for a supplemental appropriation of $9,818 on the municipal disposal plant is included in a list of projects submitted to the senate Monday to aid in determining whether more money should be appropriated for the P. W. A.

Council requested the additional funds of P. W. A. after it discovered the cost of construction of the plant would pass original estimates.

Army Dresses Up, Sports New Slate Blue Uniforms

UNITED STATES army dresses up in new uniforms of slate blue. The war department selected the color for its apparent excellent camouflage characteristics, blending into surrounding colors much more efficiently than olive drab, and also because of the ease with which this wool fabric can be produced in quantity. Soldiers of Company "E", 34th Infantry, at Fort Meade, Md., show off the new and old uniforms above. Left to right, they are the old type garrison uniform, the new type, old type field uniform and the new type. Observe the difference?

Weinberg Suicide Hurts Dewey's Hines Testimony

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—George Weinberg's spectacular suicide today silenced the story which District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had planned to draw from his lips within a few days to help clinch his case against James J. Hines, the Tammany politician.

Brooding over the uncertain future that awaited him both at the hands of the law which he freely admitted violating and the underworld whose code he broke by "squealing," Weinberg outwitted his guards and sent a bullet through his head. He ended his life in a rambling old mansion in White Plains where Dewey had been holding him in "protective custody" along with Richard (Dixie) Davis and Harry (Big Harry) Schoenhaut, his fellow state-witnesses against Hines.

Weinberg casually excused himself from the group which included a half dozen special detectives in the carefully guarded house, walk-up stairs to a bedroom where he removed a .38 calibre revolver from a secret pocket in the overcoat of Joseph Kaitz, one of Dewey's special investigators, and then went to the bathroom where he liquidated himself. He seated himself on the floor, braced his body against the bathtub by pushing his feet against the wall, took careful aim in a full length mirror, and fired. He never regained consciousness.

Davis, counsel for the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Flegenheimer's $2,000,000 policy racket for which Hines is accused of providing political protection, and Schoenhaut, the Schultz book-keeper, were rushed to a new hide-away by Dewey. He said the guards assigned to them would be immediately doubled.

Dewey confidently predicted he would be able to introduce the damaging statement against Hines that Weinberg made at the Tammany politician's first trial at the second trial now in progress. But Lloyd Paul Stryker, Dewey's counsel, said he will fight such action because his client would be denied the right of cross-examination.

"At any rate," the crestfallen Dewey admitted, "it will not be like having the man himself on the stand."

Kaitz, a dewey investigator with an excellent record, was immediately suspended pending an investigation to determine whether he was guilty of neglect or laxity. "Suicide by gunshot wound," was the official verdict of Dr. Amos O. Squire, medical examiner for Westchester county. In terse phraseology it marked finish to the career of a self-confessed gangster born 38 years ago into poverty on the lower East side of New York, orphaned at nine and already an ex-convict with a record at 21. Weinberg never got into the real money, however, until he joined up with Dutch Schultz. His brother, Abe (Bo) Weinberg, was Schultz's bodyguard, and for that task he was reputedly rewarded with a concrete filled coffin that carried him to the bottom of the East river.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, January 30 MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST holds testimonies of adverse as well as benefic conditions, with much stirring to keep the day one of excitement and adventure. There may be difficulties arising from extravagance, self-indulgence, impetuosity and probable violence. This may lead to troublesome debts, quarrels, loss and litigation, with reactions on social and business standing.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to run into a year of much perturbation, tumult, strife, self-indulgence and excessive expenditures, all of which may cause loss of social and business prestige, coupled with litigation. An exciting and drastic year with squandered forces unless control and restraint be exercised is forecast.

A child born on this day will be virile, talented, but impetuous, turbulent, indulgent, extravagant and pleasure-loving, unless given early discipline and direction.

THREE PERSONS CRITICALLY HURT IN "EL" ACCIDENT

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Three persons were probably fatally injured today when two Chicago elevated trains crashed in a raging blizzard that virtually paralyzed transportation throughout the Chicago region.

Police patrols and ambulances were delayed in reaching the scene of the accident by the deep snow and high winds, and details of the accident were meager.

The wrecked elevated trains were packed with commuters from Chicago's southwest side. Rescue workers were hindered by the lashing wind and the deep snow.

The critically injured were identified as:

Frank Decker, 50, left leg badly crushed;

Mrs. Bessie Dluky, 45, extent of injuries unknown;

Andrew Kallas, 40, internal injuries;

James J. Ecmann, 40, badly crushed;

Paul Zigman, 40, badly crushed. Elevated lines officials reported at least a score of other passengers were injured.

Cut off from help for nearly an hour, the injured were stretched out on the elevated station platform at California and West Twenty-first street, high above the streets and vulnerable to the icy blasts.

Suffering and bleeding, their only protection was afforded by uninjured passengers who lined up to form a human windbreak.

FARM NEWS

Brief Items of Interest to Pickaway Farmers

Sales of wheat and flour for export from the United States between July 1, 1938 and January 15, 1939, totaled 78,400,000 bushels.

With eggs selling at very low prices in farm areas, housewives now can get exceptional food value for their dollars by using more eggs in baking and by serving more in the many attractive ways that eggs can be prepared.

Ohio farmers who are going to invest money in the purchase of fertilizers for next year's crops can get better value for their money if they obtain extension bulletin No. 139, "Fertilizing Field Crops in Ohio", from their county agricultural agent.

Corn belt farmers are feeding 7 percent more cattle than a year ago, and the 1937-38 numbers on feed were an increase of 15 percent over the preceding year. The western states and two states in the southwest have fewer cattle on feed now than a year ago.

Market gardeners who are seen in sweet corn fields operating an atomizer are not applying perfume to the plants. A few drops of light, highly refined mineral oil sprayed on the silks as soon as they have wilted will protect the ear from damage by the corn ear worm.

More than 80,000 farm families in 20 states are now participating in the medical care program which was initiated by the Farm Security Administration. A few groups also provide for hospital services and dental care. The cost of medical care under this plan varies from $20 to $50 per year, and the family chooses its physician from those available in the community.

OHIO MINISTERS GATHERING FOR ANNUAL CONFAB

Twentieth Convention To Attract 1,000 From All Denominations

FAMED MEN TO TALK

Prince Of Peace Finals To Be Conducted Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30 — Free from inter-denominational strife, Protestants, Catholics and Jews alike assembled in Columbus today for the 20th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention and the 12th annual Ohio Conference of Church Women.

Committee leaders in charge of the two gatherings, estimated an attendance of about 1,000 pastors and about 500 churchwomen.

Thru the four-day convocation will be the theme of "better understanding among representatives of the different faiths, in the face of a world-wide threat against all religions."

Highlighting Tuesday's sessions will be the finals in the 14th annual Prince of Peace Declaration contest in which youthful finalists will strive for college scholarships and cash prizes. The finals will be held tomorrow morning.

Studded with names of state and national renown, the speakers' list was well balanced with men of all faiths represented. It included such widely known names as Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, Detroit, and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Omaha. Other well known men who will address the delegates included R. V. Everett R. Clinchy, Director of the National Conference of Jews and Christians and Rabbi Louis Wolsey, Philadelphia.

During a joint session of both convening groups today, President John A. MacKay, of Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J., will be the chief speaker.

Finalists in the Prince of Peace Declaration contest are: Marjorie Sauner, Columbus; Harlan Dix and John McCullough, Wooster; Marian Gillespie, Van Wert; Robert McCleary, Dayton, and Martha Southard, Marysville.

Much Building Activity Expected in Ashville

By S. D. Fridley Phone Ashville, 79

The well known contractor and builder, Willard Barch, was here from Duval Saturday evening and in contact with him we wanted to know something about the building prospects that he might have for the coming season. Told us that he had just driven the stakes for a nice dwelling that day. And that he had the plans ready for a five-room modern bungalow to be built in Ashville for, he couldn't say who now. But work will not begin on it until about April 1. Others, he said, were beginning to talk build, and the season ahead looked good at present.

Wednesday evening, February 1, there will be a meeting of the local community club at the Dairy Lunch dining room. A full attendance is much desired at this session as a new constitution and by-laws will be presented for consideration and adoption. The usual banquet will be served.

Mrs. Charles Fortner, West Main street, underwent an operation at White Cross hospital Saturday for gall stones. "Doing as well as could be expected" was the word from the hospital this morning.

Ashville—Harry Briggs, working on the livestock end of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, is the highest of high authority on breeds of cattle, because he comes in contact with all of them. We told a couple of cattle feeding court members how we had seen a truck load of fine black, white-faced steers passing through town Wednesday. This statement was an insult to their cattle intelligence and said there were no such animal. But Mr. Briggs said such as we had described are fairly common and he handles quite a few of them. So, there now, who's it?

Ashville—Just to find out a lot of things as to how they are done on the farm now, as compared to when that pair of fine and steady horses furnished the motive power to turn over an acre of land each day, we made inquiry of one of our farmer supreme court members, Saturday, about how much land he

THEATRES

AT THE CIRCLE Comedians and movie villains never know what to expect in a picture. Short of winning the girl from the hero, anything is apt to happen to them.

Take the case of those tough guys, Allen Jenkins and Harold Huber, for example. They never dreamed they'd be crooning and prancing their way through a song and dance routine. Yet that's what they found themselves doing for a scene of "Going Places," the Warner Bros. farce with music which is now showing at the Circle Theatre.

The setting was a Maryland hotel room. Jenkins and Huber, in the roles of race track gangsters, were calling on Dick Powell to "persuade" him to ride in the big steeplechase.

W. P. A. TO TAKE OFF 20,000 IN MONTH'S TIME

Payment Of Unemployment Compensation To Start Relief Roll Slash

WATSON CITES FIGURES

Fund Shortage Is Taken Into Consideration By Director

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—W. P. A. employment in Ohio is expected to shrink 20,000 during the month of February following the announcement today through the office of Director Carl Watson that 10,000 project workers will be dismissed during the next three weeks when they begin receiving their Unemployment Compensation checks.

W. P. A. now employs 246,000, a number which is to be reduced not only by the 10,000 dismissals, but by the order which prevents replacing those who retire from W. P. A. to take up jobs in private industry.

By the middle of the month, it was estimated, the number will be down to 225,000. Dr. Watson also announced that those who have received unemployment compensation for the full 16 week period would be reinstated on W. P. A. beginning in May and June if funds were available.

Dr. Watson said that the dismissals were in line with President Roosevelt's declaration that W. P. A.'s first responsibility "must necessarily be toward those unemployed persons who can not qualify for assistance under other federal programs."

W. P. A. estimates are that there now are 65,000 employable jobless persons who have been certified for W. P. A. employment by local relief agencies, but who cannot be hired because of fund shortage. The present rule for obtaining W. P. A. employment is that the applicant must either be returning to W. P. A. rolls following an illness, or following discharge from private employment for which he once left W. P. A.

FARMERS MEET FOR CONFAB AT STATE SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—What probably will be their last vacation before they settle down to early Spring chores began today for farmers and farm women from all parts of the state who are attending the 27th annual Farm Week program sponsored by Ohio State university.

A total attendance of 8,000 is expected during the five-day program, during which "classes" will be conducted in all branches of farming. Scores of lectures, demonstrations and displays are on the schedule.

This afternoon visiting farmers were to hear Claude R. Wickard, A.A.A. division director explain the federal farm program. Two banquets are scheduled for tonight, one by the Ohio Seed Improvement association and the other by the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

Other organizations who are participating in the program are The Ohio Beekeepers association, The Ohio Horticultural society, the Grange, Farm Bureau and 4-H club.

MURDER, SUICIDE THEORY PROBED IN TWO DEATHS

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30 — The coroner's report listed a murder and suicide today following discovery of the bodies of Harry A. Menke, 45, jeweler, and his wife, Jennie, 38. The woman had been strangled and the man shot.

Sent to investigate after neighbors reported they had not seen the couple since last Wednesday, a city fireman and detective forced the kitchen window and discovered the bodies.

Partially clad, the couple was found in bed on the second floor. A white cotton cloth was twisted around Mrs. Menke's neck. Menke had a bullet wound in the temple. A .38 caliber revolver from which two shots had been fired was found in the man's hand.

Police found the house in disorder. Pieces of broken dishes were found scattered in the kitchen, dining room and living room on the first floor, but there was no

OHIO MINISTERS GATHERING FOR ANNUAL CONFAB

Twentieth Convention To Attract 1,000 From All Denominations

FAMED MEN TO TALK

Prince Of Peace Finals To Be Conducted Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30 — Free from inter-denominational strife, Protestants, Catholics and Jews alike assembled in Columbus today for the 20th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention and the 12th annual Ohio Conference of Church Women.

Committee leaders in charge of the two gatherings, estimated an attendance of about 1,000 pastors and about 500 churchwomen.

Threaded through the four-day convocation will be the theme of "better understanding among representatives of the different faiths, in the face of a world-wide threat against all religions."

Highlighting Tuesday's sessions will be the finals in the 14th annual Prince of Peace Declaration contest in which youthful finalists will strive for college scholarships and cash prizes. The finals will be held tomorrow morning.

Studded with names of state and national renown, the speakers' list was well balanced with men of all faiths represented. It included such widely known names as Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, Detroit, and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Omaha. Other well known men who will address the delegates included R. V. Everett R. Clinchy, Director of the National Conference of Jews and Christians and Rabbi Louis Wolsey, Philadelphia.

During a joint session of both convening groups today, President John A. MacKay, of Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J., will be the chief speaker.

Finalists in the Prince of Peace Declaration contest are: Marjorie Sauner, Columbus; Harlan Dix and John McCullough, Wooster; Marian Gillespie, Van Wert; Robert McCleary, Dayton, and Martha Southard, Marysville.

Much Building Activity Expected in Ashville

By S. D. Fridley Phone Ashville, 79

The well known contractor and builder, Willard Barch, was here from Duvall Saturday evening and in contact with him we wanted to know something about the building prospects that he might have for the coming season. Told us that he had just driven the stakes for a nice dwelling that day. And that he had the plans ready for a five-room modern bungalow to be built in Ashville for, he couldn't say who now. But work will not begin on it until about April 1. Others, he said, were beginning to talk build, and the season ahead looked good at present.

Wednesday evening, February 1, there will be a meeting of the local community club at the Dairy Lunch dining room. A full attendance is much desired at this session as a new constitution and by-laws will be presented for consideration and adoption. The usual banquet will be served.

Mrs. Charles Fortner, West Main street, underwent an operation at White Cross hospital Saturday for gall stones. "Doing as well as could be expected" was the word from the hospital this morning.

Ashville—Harry Briggs, working on the livestock end of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, is the highest of high authority on breeds of cattle, because he comes in contact with all of them. We told a couple of cattle feeding court members how we had seen a truck load of fine black, white-faced steers passing through town Wednesday. This statement was an insult to their cattle intelligence and said there were no such animal. But Mr. Briggs said such as we had described are fairly common and he handles quite a few of them. So, there now, who's it?

Ashville—Just to find out a lot of things as to how they are done on the farm now, as compared to when that pair of fine and steady horses furnished the motive power to turn over an acre of land each day, we made inquiry of one of our farmer supreme court members, Saturday, about how much land he Comedians and movie villains never know what to expect in a picture. Short of winning the girl from the hero, anything is apt to happen to them.

Take the case of those tough guys, Allen Jenkins and Harold Huber, for example. They never dreamed they'd be crooning and prancing their way through a song and dance routine. Yet that's what they found themselves doing for a scene of "Going Places," the Warner Bros. farce with music which is now showing at the Circle Theatre.

The setting was a Maryland hotel room. Jenkins and Huber, in the roles of race track gangsters, were calling on Dick Powell to "persuade" him to ride in the big steeplechase.

W. P. A. TO TAKE OFF 20,000 IN MONTH'S TIME

Payment Of Unemployment Compensation To Start Relief Roll Slash

WATSON CITES FIGURES

Fund Shortage Is Taken Into Consideration By Director

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—W. P. A. employment in Ohio is expected to shrink 20,000 during the month of February following the announcement today through the office of Director Carl Watson that 10,000 project workers will be dismissed during the next three weeks when they begin receiving their Unemployment Compensation checks.

W. P. A. now employs 246,000, a number which is to be reduced not only by the 10,000 dismissals, but by the order which prevents replacing those who retire from W. P. A. to take up jobs in private industry.

By the middle of the month, it was estimated, the number will be down to 225,000.

Dr. Watson also announced that those who have received unemployment compensation for the full 16 week period would be reinstated on W. P. A. beginning in May and June if funds were available.

Dr. Watson said that the dismissals were in line with President Roosevelt's declaration that W. P. A.'s first responsibility "must necessarily be toward those unemployed persons who can not qualify for assistance under other federal programs."

W. P. A. estimates are that there now are 65,000 employable jobless persons who have been certified for W. P. A. employment by local relief agencies, but who cannot be hired because of fund shortage. The present rule for obtaining W. P. A. employment is that the applicant must either be returning to W. P. A. rolls following an illness, or following discharge from private employment for which he once left W. P. A.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—What probably will be their last vacation before they settle down to early Spring chores began today for farmers and farm women from all parts of the state who are attending the 27th annual Farm Week program sponsored by Ohio State university.

A total attendance of 8,000 is expected during the five-day program, during which "classes" will be conducted in all branches of farming. Scores of lectures, demonstrations and displays are on the schedule.

This afternoon visiting farmers were to hear Claude R. Wickard, A.A.A. division director explain the federal farm program. Two banquets are scheduled for tonight, one by the Ohio Seed Improvement association and the other by the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

Other organizations who are participating in the program are The Ohio Beekeepers association, The Ohio Horticultural society, the Grange, Farm Bureau and 4-H club.

MOTOR TRUCKS ACCEPTED

THERE isn't so much complaint as there used to be, on the part of motorists, about trucks cluttering up the highways, interfering with passenger traffic and wearing out pavements. There are reasons for that.

The first reason, perhaps, is that the trucks are now paying well for their use of the roads. Their road toll—for that is what their taxes amount to—came to more than $1,000,000 a day last year. The aggregate for the country is estimated at $405,000,000.

That compares very well with the taxes assessed against the railroads. Last year Class I, the principal railroad group, paid $329,000,000, considerably less than the trucks. Thus the railroads themselves no longer have their old grievance against trucks—that they evaded taxation while the rails were heavily taxed and so were competing unfairly.

The trucks have also placated the driving public by adopting bigger and softer tires and plenty of them, so that they no longer break down the roads as they used to. Another important factor is the courteous behavior of truck drivers, who usually give motorists a break instead of blocking the road for them.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE BOOKS

WHEN the American Institute of Public Opinion set out to learn "what books of all time have the greatest interest for contemporary Americans," it produced a rather queer list which suggests that contemporary Americans know little about "books of all time."

The question put to "a selected cross-section of men and women in every state and every walk of life", was "What is the most interesting book you have ever read?" The Bible was first, and may be conceded a right to that place.

The next five, in order, were "Gone With the Wind", Anthony Adverse, "The Citadel", "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and "The Good Earth", all current best-sellers. The twenty different books named included only one each by Scott, Dickens, Stevenson and Mark Twain. The only author to boast two books on the list is Lloyd C. Douglas, whose writings will hardly achieve a place among the world's great books. There were only two works outside of English and American literature, one each by Dumas and Victor Hugo.

Perhaps the many people who must

SPANISH EMBARGO

WASHINGTON—They are not advertising it publicly, but today State Department diplomats are about 100 percent in favor of lifting the Spanish embargo.

Tragedy is that they are just nine months too late. Last April and May when Senate opinion favored lifting the embargo, State Department officials generally were opposed. They were irked and disgruntled over the delegations which visited them from all parts of the country, at the mail which deluged them by the truckload.

At that time, they said the Spanish war would be over in six weeks. That was nine months ago.

Today the State Department, realizing its tragic mistake, would like to have the embargo lifted, but it wants Congress to do the lifting. Today also it happens that the President is much less enthusiastic on the subject than his State Department.

Strangely enough his Cabinet, for the most part, disagrees with him. Private polls of the Cabinet show seven emphatically in favor of lifting the embargo. They are Ickes, Hopkins, Murphy, Wallace, Perkins, Morgenthau and Hull, the latter being favorable, though rather timidly so.

This poll was not taken at a Cabinet session, but by some members of the above group who checked up on sentiment among themselves. The main cabinet member, however, F. D. Roosevelt, thinks it is too late to do anything about the embargo, also appears swayed by Catholic opinion.

One of Roosevelt's most intimate advisers recently counseled a friend who was urging action on Spain, "Why don't you go down to Florida and fix it up with the Cardinal?"

He was referring to Cardinal Mundelein, close friend of Roosevelt, who has been recuperating from an illness in Florida.

GARNER VS. FRANKFURTER

Private boast of Justice Felix Frankfurter is that he once drank gusty Vice President Jack Garner "under the table."

Not many know it, but the two men are great friends. They were introduced in the early days of the New Deal by ex-braintruster Ray Moley and took an immediate fancy to each other. Garner calls Frankfurter "Cardinal" and Frankfurter calls Garner "Excellency".

Once, while in Washington to attend a White House dinner, Frankfurter remarked to the President that he was making an afternoon call on Garner. The President jokingly warned him to be careful of the Vice President's hospitality or he wouldn't be able to attend the dinner.

have had at least some slight contact with Homer, Vergil, Dante, Shakespeare and Goethe in high school or college don't think of such works as books. Furthermore, contemporary Americans seem not to consider drama or poetry as eligible.

It makes a fellow wonder a little what the teachers of languages and literature have been doing all these years, not to mention public libraries and booksellers.

World At A Glance

Having abolished lame duck congresses, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is agitating now for unicameral congresses. Due mainly to his influence his home state already has a unicameral legislature—that is, a legislature which is not split into a senate and house of representatives, but operates with only one chamber. Reports from the Cornhusker commonwealth are to the effect that the new system is quite satisfactory. Senator Norris advocated it on grounds of efficiency and economy. There are no sense in two houses, he argued; one is just as democratic and works faster.

Whether or not the same thing would do equally well on a national scale is problematic, but the Nebraska senator thinks it would. Of course it couldn't be adopted, if at all, without a constitutional amendment. However, a constitutional amendment also had to precede abolition of lame duck congresses, and the Nebraskan was potent enough to jam that through. To be sure, getting the constitution amended takes time. The senator started a long while ago on his anti-lame duck crusade. He fought for it for years. His present fight will have to be pushed more briskly. His current term will expire at the end of 1942 and he says he will not run again. Even if he changes his mind, he will be past 80 then. He must hustle or his campaign will outlive him.

'DUCKS' WERE SHOT SITTING

Another thing:
The lame ducks were shot sitting.

ing, so to speak. Nobody ever did love a lame duck. He neither could defend himself nor get out of the way.

Lame duck-ism was like this:

Election day was (and is yet) early in November. In the lame duck era, an incumbent lawmaker could be defeated on that date, but his term continued (and does yet) until the year's end. So he still was (and is yet, if he gets a chance to assert himself) a voting member of congress until the succeeding January 1. And congress, until Senator Norris got the constitution amended, met in early December. Therefore this beaten bird continued to have a legislative voice for about a month after his repudiation by his constituency—a period during which he might do a lot of dirty work.

Not unreasonably, Senator Norris considered this unfair.

Accordingly his amendment cut out the congressional session between election day and January 1, thus eliminating the effectiveness of the lame ducks—the guys who had been beaten but whose terms had not quite ended.

There can, indeed, yet be a lame duck session of congress. If the president calls an extra session between election day and January 1, the lame ducks remain in action while the expiring year lasts. But extra sessions are exceptional.

The point is that Senator Norris had comparatively little opposition in his warfare against lame ducks. A lame duck is a politician who already has been licked, and who care a hoot for a chap who has just been licked?

WON'T ELIMINATE SELVES

Compacting a congress of 96 senators and 435 representatives into a single body is altogether a different proposition.

Ninety-six and 435 foot up to a total of 531 seats on Capitol Hill. Senator Norris, proposed one house would be, say, 265 strong, with the vice president casting the deciding vote on ties.

Are 531 senators and representatives going to indorse a constitutional amendment trimming their number of seats down by 266 altogether? Not if I know anything about politicians. The home voters might acquiesce, but a constitutional amendment calls for a congressional majority first.

THE ORIGINAL NOTION

The original idea was that we needed two congressional chambers, in order to have a liberal house of representatives and a conservative senate, cross-checking one another.

Now that both senators and representatives are chosen alike by popular vote that purpose is lost. The senators are no less popularly representative than the representatives, except that their terms are longer. If anything, in actual practice, the senate is more progressive than the so-called lower house.

Senator Norris' scheme is logical all right.

But if he can get away with it he's a wonder.

Cigarette Holder Filter Advantage?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVER SINCE the practice of using one cigarette as a filter in a cigarette holder has been going on, I have been asked to pass an opinion on it. Up to the present, I have had no dependable information but there have been several studies of late which allow us to answer these questions.

I would have been inclined to say, as a matter of opinion, that the use of another cigarette as a filter increased, rather than decreased the amount of nicotine which is obtained by the smoker. Certainly when you see one of those limp things taken out of a cigarette holder, it looks pretty flimsy. However, careful chemical analysis indicates that in some types of holders a little more than half of the nicotine is removed, and in other types about one-third is removed. The filters made of chemical cotton wads or rolled paper remove from one-third to one-fourth of the nicotine. When two cigarettes instead of one are used, nearly 80 per cent of the nicotine is removed.

Harmful Substances

These harmful substances which are in cigarette smoke include carbon-monoxide, which is present from 1/2 to 1 per cent in a cigarette. There is over 1 per cent in the smoke from a pipe and from 6 to 8 per cent in the smoke from a cigar. Strangely enough, this carbon-monoxide does no harm as it is freely diluted with air in the mouth and the amount of carbon-monoxide that is absorbed is negligible. Pipe and cigar smokers seldom inhale smoke into the lungs so they have little to fear from this amount of carbon-monoxide.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Other possible harmful substances in tobacco smoke are ammonia gas and pyridine or pyridine derivatives. Their effect is mostly local and they cause irritation of the mucous surfaces of the mouth and throat, producing a morning cough, rawness of the throat and conjunctivitis.

This leaves nicotine as the only other substance besides carbon-monoxide which could have a constitutional effect. It has been abundantly proved that it is the nicotine that produces the general reaction from smoking. It is a virulent poison but it is combusted in the consumption of the cigarette and so rapidly blown out that there is not enough absorption to cause the serious poisoning which, theoretically, should occur.

Effect on Heart

In studying the effect of cigarette filters on the heart, Dr. Segal, of Rochester, N. Y., has shown that smoking half a cigarette produces a definite effect on the heart of those subjects under the age of 50. There is an increase in the pulse rate and a change in the electric graphic record of the heart. Those over 50 responded to a much lesser degree to cigarette smoking. This is possibly due to the fact that tobacco is an irritant to the heart and older hearts do not respond as well.

In spite of the fact that the filters remove a large portion of the nicotine, the effect on the heart is just the same with a filter as without.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. P. L.: "Please tell me what can be done for a child whose eyes pull inward toward the bridge of the nose most of the time. Would an operation be helpful?"

Answer—A great deal can be done for eyes if the case is taken early enough. Treatment by correcting refractive errors with glasses and exercises are successful in a large proportion of cases if applied before the sixth year. Operation may have to be done and usually is in 25 per cent of cases. It is quite successful.

W. A.: "I would like to know if night sweating in a boy six years old, who is rather pale, denotes anything serious?"

Answer—It certainly calls for an examination. It may be nothing or it may be a chronic infection such as tuberculosis.

NO UNIMPORTANT CARDS

EXTRAVAGANCE is as unprofitable in bridge as it is in everything else. Players who wantonly toss away intermediate cards such as nines and tens are likely to find a bit later that those little fellows have grown to giants in stature. Much of the difference between fine players and medium ones is found in the appraisal placed by the more skilled ones on cards which at the moment seem unimportant but may acquire real value as the play progresses.

South began the bidding here with a weak third-hand call of 1-Diamond. West doubled, North redoubled. East and South passed. West bid 1-Spade, and when it got around to South he called 1-No trump. After North's 2-Hearts, South bid 2-No trump and West doubled. Taken by and large, it was a pretty 'adly bid hand.

West led his spade 2 and the declarer without delay played the 10 from dummy, which drew the K and A. Followed a heart to the K.

another to the J and A, return of the club 4 to the Q, the spade 3 to the 8 and Q, the heart Q, the diamond 2 to the K and A, then two spades cashed by West. With natural play following, South got all told only two tricks in spades, two in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs, so was down one.

Had South calculated before playing to the first trick, he would have realized that, with the 10 in dummy and 8 in his own hand, play of the 10 could not pay unless East held the 9. Odds against his holding any one card were heavy, as West both bid the suit and led it. Had he played the 4 to the first trick, he could not have been prevented from getting three tricks in spades, enough to have made his contract safe.

DEATH AT THE MANOR

BY M. E. CORNE

RELEASED BY
CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

I stood there a long, long time.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

I WAS SMILING and sort of dreaming to myself when the clock chimed ten and I came down to earth with a bang. I grabbed my coat from the bed and ran down the front stairs and out of the house.

I had no idea where the linden tree was located, but as I hurried toward the abortum I did not think I would have much trouble finding it. It was not likely that the woods would be overflowing with couples at this time of the night. And as it happened, I was not wrong. Before I had gone a hundred feet I caught a glimpse of something white moving among the trees. I dodged behind a corner of the summer house on the estate.

As my eyes gradually became accustomed to the darkness, I saw that the something white was a man's shirt front. But I could not see the man's face nor hear what he was saying. The next tree from me was a good twenty feet, and Daphne and the unknown man stood facing each other. I cursed my luck and strained my eyes and ears to no avail.

I did not know how long I stood there, silent and immobile as a tree itself. It was a long, long time. It was like watching a motion picture of the pre-talkie era, where the actors performed in pantomime with the aid of sub-titles. I had no sub-titles, and the pantomime was meaningless alone. I felt as though I had entered a theater in the middle of the film: I could not get heads or tails of the plot.

Presently Daphne began to pace up and down the path talking and gesticulating as she did so. I decided to make a break for it. I moved quickly and agilely as a cat from tree to tree until I was within a few feet of the couple.

Cautiously I poked my head around the trunk. Daphne, her face an oval blur in the gloom, was so close to me I could have touched her.

"You contemptible cur!" she was saying. "I ought to have you horse whipped!"

"I think not," said the other, and I very nearly toppled over backward. The unknown man was Count Orsini! "I think not," and his voice was as sweet as syrup, "I do not understand why you make the fuss. Are we not engaged to marry? Was not arranged even the contract?"

"Suppose," said the girl, "suppose I were to make it worth your while to break the contract?"

"So?" The count was amused. "So now money means to you nothing! You are reech!" His voice hardened. "But no! You do not make the laughing stock of Orsini! You marry me, or I tell everything!"

She demanded mockingly: "You love me so much? You aren't afraid for your precious skin?"

I fancied the count drew back; at least he hesitated, then he laughed softly: "You make the joke, no? Come—ees eet agreed? We make the marriage?"

"And if I agreed, you will give me the tissue?"

The tissue! I picked up my ears! So-Phil was right. It had been the count who had attacked him and stolen the tissue!

"When you are my wife, I give you the paper."

"Oh!" Daphne sounded annoyed. Presently she suggested slyly: "How do I know you are telling the truth? Perhaps you are lying—"

"You do not believe me?"

"No," she said bluntly. "No."

"Very well!" he cried. "I prove eet! See! What I have said es true. Here es the tissue—you see!"

"Beast!" She lunged toward him. He reeled backward; he lost his balance, and fell heavily to the ground. Instantly Daphne was upon him. For a confused second they rolled among the moss and the leaves. Then, freeing herself, the girl got to her feet.

"So you would threaten me!" she exclaimed in triumph, and I saw that she waved above the prone figure of the count a bit of white paper. "There! And there! Again and again she tore the tissue until there was nothing left of it but a shower of tiny flakes that fluttered through the air like fine snow."

Count Orsini swore in a decidedly ungentlemanly fashion. "You pay for thees!" he shouted, but his epithets fell on my ears alone. Daphne was running up the path that led to the house. It was some minutes later that the count, his back plastered with dirt and leaves, limped after her.

I stepped from my shelter, surprised to find my knees knocking together. I clutched at a sapling, clinging weakly to it. My fingers touched something cold, metallic. I recoiled as though a rattlesnake had suddenly reared its head to strike me. Then all at once I began to laugh! I could not stop laughing. My rattlesnake was a square metal tag tacked neatly to the tree. The tag was inscribed: "This tree planted by" and there followed the name of my movie star!

I stuffed my handkerchief into my mouth and made my way slowly through the avenue of trees. The house from the rear loomed large and darkly. The kitchen was long since deserted.

Somewhere behind me an owl hooted. The wind whistled eerily, playing a mournful, ghostly symphony among the leaves. Fear caught at my throat. The stillness enveloped me like a shroud. Unseen fingers clutched at my coat as I walked alone.

Then simultaneously the blackness and the silence were shattered. The huge house, like a butterfly from its cocoon, emerged from darkness to light. Lights popped on here, there, everywhere, until the blackened hulk of the place was ablaze from top to bottom. I stopped still. Fear ran the length of my body, turning it to stone.

In the driveway the familiar chug-chug of a motor, tired and worn, sounded loudly. With an agonizing groan the motor coughed, sputtered, died—and with its last echo I was galvanized to life and action. I ran and ran and never stopped running until I was safe and sound in Phil's welcoming arms!

"Whoa, there!" McIntyre, the follower by Chief Ellis and the coroller, hopped from the back seat of Phil's Ford. "What's going on here?"

And as if in answer to his question the kitchen door was flung open with such violence that the glass cracked across and fell in pieces to the ground. Minnie, the giggling chambermaid, stumbled down the steps. Only she was not giggling now; her face was livid with terror.

"He's dead!" she babbled incoherently, and worked her arms up and down windmill fashion. "They have murdered him, too!"

"Murdered who?" demanded Mac ungrammatically. "Murdered who?"

"Mr. Horace, that's who! He's lying up in Mr. Richard's room all covered with blood!" And Minnie, having delivered herself, fainted dead away in the unwilling embrace of Dr. Dildmore.

MOTOR TRUCKS ACCEPTED

THERE isn't so much complaint as there used to be, on the part of motorists, about trucks cluttering up the highways, interfering with passenger traffic and wearing out pavements. There are reasons for that.

The first reason, perhaps, is that the trucks are now paying well for their use of the roads. Their road toll—for that is what their taxes amount to—came to more than $1,000,000 a day last year. The aggregate for the country is estimated at $405,000,000.

That compares very well with the taxes assessed against the railroads. Last year Class I, the principal railroad group, paid $329,000,000, considerably less than the trucks. Thus the railroads themselves no longer have their old grievance against trucks—that they evaded taxation while the rails were heavily taxed and so were competing unfairly.

The trucks have also placated the driving public by adopting bigger and softer tires and plenty of them, so that they no longer break down the roads as they used to. Another important factor is the courteous behavior of truck drivers, who usually give motorists a break instead of blocking the road for them.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE BOOKS

WHEN the American Institute of Public Opinion set out to learn "what books of all time have the greatest interest for contemporary Americans," it produced a rather queer list which suggests that contemporary Americans know little about "books of all time."

The question put to "a selected cross-section of men and women in every state and every walk of life," was "What is the most interesting book you have ever read?" The Bible was first, and may be conceded a right to that place.

The next five, in order, were "Gone With the Wind," "Anthony Adverse," "The Citadel," "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and "The Good Earth," all current best-sellers. The twenty different books named included only one each by Scott, Dickens, Stevenson and Mark Twain. The only author to boast two books on the list is Lloyd C. Douglas, whose writings will hardly achieve a place among the world's great books. There were only two works outside of English and American literature, one each by Dumas and Victor Hugo.

Perhaps the many people who must

SPANISH EMBARGO
WASHINGTON—They are not advertising it publicly, but today State Department diplomats are about 100 percent in favor of lifting the Spanish embargo.

Tragedy is that they are just nine months too late. Last April and May when Senate opinion favored lifting the embargo, State Department officials generally were opposed. They were irked and disgruntled over the delegations which visited them from all parts of the country, at the mail which deluged them by the truckload.

At that time, they said the Spanish war would be over in six weeks. That was nine months ago.

Today the State Department, realizing its tragic mistake, would like to have the embargo lifted, but it wants Congress to do the lifting. Today also it happens that the President is much less enthusiastic on the subject than his State Department.

Strangely enough his Cabinet, for the most part, disagrees with him. Private polls of the Cabinet show seven emphatically in favor of lifting the embargo. They are Ickes, Hopkins, Murphy, Wallace, Perkins, Morgenthau and Hull, the latter being favorable, though rather timidly so.

This poll was not taken at a Cabinet session, but by some members of the above group who checked up on sentiment among themselves. The main cabineer, however, F. D. Roosevelt, thinks it is too late to do anything about the embargo, also appears swayed by Catholic opinion.

One of Roosevelt's most intimate advisers recently counseled a friend who was urging action on Spain, "Why don't you go down to Florida and fix it up with the Cardinal?"

He was referring to Cardinal Mundelein, close friend of Roosevelt, who has been recuperating from an illness in Florida.

GARNER VS. FRANKFURTER

Private boast of Justice Felix Frankfurter is that he once drank gusty Vice President Jack Garner "under the table."

Not many know it, but the two men are great friends. They were introduced in the early days of the New Deal by ex-braintruster Ray Moley and took an immediate fancy to each other. Garner calls Frankfurter "Cardinal" and Frankfurter calls Garner "Excellency."

Once, while in Washington to attend a White House dinner, Frankfurter remarked to the President that he was making an afternoon call on Garner. The President jokingly warned him to be careful of the Vice President's hospitality or he wouldn't be able to attend the dinner.

have had at least some slight contact with Homer, Vergil, Dante, Shakespeare and Goethe in high school or college don't think of such works as books. Furthermore, contemporary Americans seem not to consider drama or poetry as eligible.

It makes a fellow wonder a little what the teachers of languages and literature have been doing all these years, not to mention public libraries and booksellers.

World At A Glance

—By— Charles P. Stewart

Having abolished lame duck congresses, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is agitating now for unicameral congresses. Due mainly to his influence his home state already has a unicameral legislature—that is, a legislature which is not split into a senate and house of representatives, but operates with only one chamber. Reports from the Cornhusker commonwealth are to the effect that the new system is quite satisfactory. Senator Norris advocated it on grounds of efficiency and economy. There are no sense in two houses, he argued; one is just as democratic and works faster.

Whether or not the same thing would do equally well on a national scale is problematic, but the Nebraska senator thinks it would.

Of course it couldn't be adopted, if at all, without a constitutional amendment. However, a constitutional amendment also had to precede abolition of lame duck congresses, and the Nebraska was potent enough to jam that through.

To be sure, getting the constitution amended takes time. The senator started a long while ago on his anti-lame duck crusade. He fought for it for years. His present fight will have to be pushed more briskly. His current term will expire at the end of 1942 and he says he will not run again. Even if he changes his mind, he will be past 80 then. He must hustle or his campaign will outlive him.

'DUCKS' WERE SHOT SITTING
Another thing:
The lame ducks were shot sitting.

ing, so to speak. Nobody ever did love a lame duck. He neither could defend himself nor get out of the way.

Lame duck-ism was like this:
Election day was (and is yet) early in November. In the lame duck era, an incumbent lawmaker could be defeated on that date, but his term continued (and does yet) until the year's end. So he still was (and is yet, if he gets a chance to assert himself) a voting member of congress until the succeeding January 1. And congress, until Senator Norris got the constitution amended, met in early December. Therefore this beaten bird continued to have a legislative voice for about a month after his repudiation by his constituency—a period during which he might do a lot of dirty work.

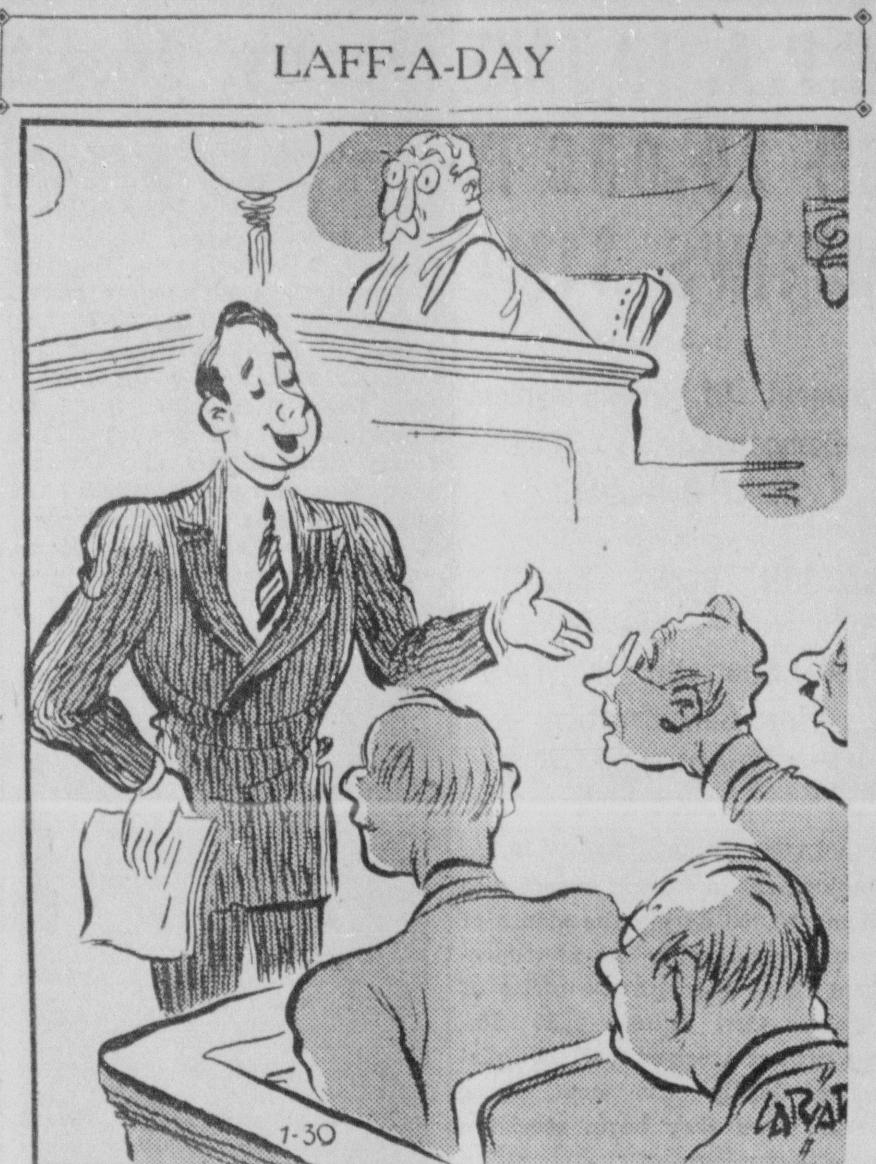

Not unreasonably, Senator Norris considered this unfair.

Accordingly his amendment cut out the congressional session between election day and January 1, thus eliminating the effectiveness of the lame ducks—the guys who had been beaten but whose terms had not quite ended.

There can, indeed, yet be a lame duck session of congress. If the president calls an extra session between election day and January 1, the lame ducks remain in action while the expiring year lasts. But extra sessions are exceptional.

The point is that Senator Norris had comparatively little opposition in his warfare against lame ducks. A lame duck is a politician who already has been licked, and who

Cigarette Holder Filter Advantage?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVER SINCE the practice of using one cigarette as a filter in a cigarette holder has been going on, I have been asked to pass an opinion on it. Up to the present, I have had no dependable information but there have been several studies of late which allow us to answer these questions.

I would have been inclined to say, as a matter of fact, that the use of another cigarette as a filter increased, rather than decreased, the amount of nicotine which is obtained by the smoker. Certainly when you see one of those limp things taken out of a cigarette holder, it looks pretty flimsy. However, careful chemical analysis indicates that in some types of holders a little more than half of the nicotine is removed, and in other types about one-third is removed. The filters made of chemicals, cotton wads or rolled paper remove from one-third to one-fourth of the nicotine. When two cigarettes instead of one are used, nearly 80 per cent of the nicotine is removed.

Harmful Substances
These harmful substances which are in cigarette smoke include carbon-monoxide, which is present from 1/2 to 1 per cent in a cigarette. There is over 1 per cent in the smoke from pipe and from 6 to 8 per cent in the smoke from a cigar. Strangely

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

enough, this carbon-monoxide does no harm as it is freely diluted with air in the mouth and the amount of carbon-monoxide that is absorbed is negligible. Pipe and cigar smokers seldom inhale smoke into the lungs so they have little to fear from this amount of carbon-monoxide.

Other possible harmful substances in tobacco smoke are ammonia gas and pyridine or pyridine derivatives. Their effect is mostly local and they cause irritation of the mucous surfaces of the mouth and throat, producing a morning cough, rawness of the throat and conjunctivitis.

This leaves nicotine as the only other substance besides carbon-monoxide which could have a con-

of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lockard of E. Main street.
Approximately 65 relatives and friends attended the affair. Many useful gifts were presented the couple.
Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

McCarthy-Fortner Wedding
Miss Marietta Fortner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fortner of Ashville, and Mr. Ivan Mc-Carthy of Highland Park, Ill., were united in marriage Friday evening at the United Brethren parsonage, Chillicothe. The single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. M. R.
White.

For her wedding, Mrs. Fortner chose a semi-formal gown of blue lace and wore white accessories.
Her corsage was of white blossoms.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fortner, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants.
Mrs. Fortner's gown was of rose satin.

The two couples enjoyed a wedding supper in Chillicothe after the service.
The wedding was planned for Sunday at the Fortner home, Ash-ville, but due to the serious illness of the bride's mother, was set forward two days. Mrs. Fortner underwent a major operation, Saturday, in White Cross hospital, Columbus.

The couple plans to reside at the home of the bride's parents in Ashville during Mrs. Fortner's illness.
Mr. McCarthy is employed at the Villa Moderne, Highland Park, Ill.

of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Redman of Derby was observed Sunday with open house at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy White of near that village. One hundred and thirty-eight guests were received in two periods, from 2 until 5 in the afternoon and from 7 until 9 in the evening.

With the exception of the first years of their married life, which they spent in Ross county, they have made their home in Pickaway county.
Mr. and Mrs. Redman have five daughters all of whom were present for the Sunday celebration.

Immediately after the wedding, the couple left for Miami, Fla. On their return, they will make their home in Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Miss Virginia Smith of Williamsport and Mr. and Mrs. W. T.
Uim of N. Court street were guests at the wedding.

SCIOTO-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

First and Second Grades

The first and second grades have drawn pictures of the stories they have read. They have also told the stories in class.

Third Grade

The third grade in connection with the study of flax has planted flax seeds in cotton.

Fourth Grade

Betty Cleo Timmons, who is in the fourth grade, has written the following original poem:

"A Snowman"

When the joyful old wind begins to blow,
Falls the first little flake of snow.
Then we make a big snow man,
With eyes of black and hat of an old dishpan.
With long slim legs and a round
little belly,
And from all the names, he shall be called "Kelly."
We all threw snowballs at his nose,
But made a mistake and hit his toes.

Sixth Grade News

In Geography we are studying France. We are studying about the eighth president of United States, Martin Van Buren, in History. We are keeping note books in Music.

Seventh Grade News

Our home room teacher, Miss Montell, was able to return to school last Monday after suffering from a serious illness.
We have two basketball teams.
The captains are Eileen Phillips and Ariene Willoughby. The name of Eileen's team is Hoosier Hot Shots. Ariene's is Wild Cats.

Eighth Grade News

Beatrice Willoughby took third prize on her poster at the Farmer's Institute. We are starting cooking this second semester.

Sophomore News

In English we are ending with short stories. Biology class is studying the circulation of blood.
The Home Economics class is making a study of clothes in a wardrobe. In history we are studying the Downfall of Empires.
In typing we are typing letters.

Freshman News

In English we are studying different kinds of poetry. Our Junior Business Training is having different kinds of budgets. In Home Economics we are studying clothing to go with out complexions. Our Algebra class is adding fractions.

A "Professor Quiz program was given at the regular meeting of the P-T. A. on Thursday evening, and C. V. Neal. The team on

Mr. Lamb's side were Maynard
Helmick, Bernice Holshoe, Mrs.
Merle Hinton, Marguerite Click,
Sara Jane Ray, and Paul Hogan.
On C. V. Neal's team were Eliot
Brinker, Francis Dountz, Ethel
Fortune, Josephine Dountz and Florence Haughn. Eight rounds of questions were drawn by the members of each team. The final score was 320 points to 310 points.
In favor of Mr. Lamb's team. Paul
Hogan won the grand prize.

Our superintendent, Mr. Francis,

McCarthy-Fortner Wedding

Miss Marietta Fortner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fortner of Ashville, and Mr. Ivan McCarthy of Highland Park, Ill., were united in marriage Friday evening at the United Brethren parsonage, Chillicothe. The single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. M. R. White.

For her wedding, Mrs. Fortner chose a semi-formal gown of blue lace and wore white accessories. Her corsage was of white blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fortner, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants. Mrs. Fortner's gown was of rose satin.

The two couples enjoyed a wedding supper in Chillicothe after the service.

The wedding was planned for Sunday at the Fortner home, Ashville, but due to the serious illness of the bride's mother, was set forward two days. Mrs. Fortner underwent a major operation, Saturday, in White Cross hospital, Columbus.

The couple plans to reside at the home of the bride's parents in Ashville during Mrs. Fortner's illness.

Mr. McCarthy is employed at the Villa Moderne, Highland Park, Ill.

60th Wedding Anniversary

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Redman of Derby was observed Sunday with open house at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy White of near that village.

One hundred and thirty-eight guests were received in two periods, from 2 until 5 in the afternoon and from 7 until 9 in the evening.

With the exception of the first years of their married life, which they spent in Ross county, they have made their home in Pickaway county.

Mr. and Mrs. Redman have five daughters all of whom were present for the Sunday celebration.

Immediately after the wedding, the couple left for Miami, Fla. On their return, they will make their home in Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Miss Virginia Smith of Williamsport and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Uim of N. Court street were guests at the wedding.

'IRON GUSTAVE' DEAD
BERLIN—"Iron Gustav", the famous Berlin cabby who 10 years ago drove his cab from Berlin to Paris and back, died recently at eighty. His epic journey with his horse, Erasmus, created a sensation at the time, and on his arrival in Paris on his 69th birthday he was mobbed by welcoming crowds.

His real name was Gustav Hartmann. Erasmus is still alive and helps a milkman deliver his goods.

First and Second Grades

The first and second grades have drawn pictures of the stories they have read. They have also told the stories in class.

Third Grade

The third grade in connection with the study of flax has planted flax seeds in cotton.

Fourth Grade

Betty Cleo Timmons, who is in the fourth grade, has written the following original poem:

"A Snowman"

When the joyful old wind begins to blow,
Falls the first little flake of snow.
Then we make a big snow man,
With eyes of black and hat of an old dishpan.

With long slim legs and a round little belly,
And from all the names, he shall be called "Kelly."

We all throw snowballs at his nose,
But made a mistake and hit his toes.

Sixth Grade News

In Geography we are studying France. We are studying about the eighth president of United States, Martin Van Buren, in History. We are keeping note books in Music.

Seventh Grade News

Our home room teacher, Miss Montell, was able to return to school last Monday after suffering from a serious illness.

We have two basketball teams. The captains are Eileen Phillips and Arlene Willoughby. The name of Eileen's team is Hoosier Hot Shots. Arlene's is Wild Cats.

Eighth Grade News

Beatrice Willoughby took third prize on her poster at the Farmer's Institute. We are starting cooking this second semester.

NATION'S FINEST TRACK STARS IN MILLROSE TEST

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—A vast horde of the nation's track stars today were girding themselves for their first indoor appearance at Madison Square Garden in the 32nd annual Millrose A. A. games carded for next Saturday night. The meet will be featured by the Wanamaker mile, an event that will see Glenn Cunningham, world indoor record-holder, defend his laurels against a strong field. Cunningham's opponents so far are Josef Mostert of Belgium; Wayne Rideout of North Texas Teachers; Chuck Fenske, mile ace of the Big Ten; John Munski, Bix Six champion who has received praise from Cunningham, and the veteran Gene Venzke.

BUCKEYES LOOK TO GOPHER TILT AS VITAL GAME

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—Hopeful of continuing the intensive drive which landed it in a first-place tie with Minnesota, Ohio State's Western Conference basketball five buckled down to heated practice today in preparation for Saturday's battle with the Gophers. Although the Bucks hung grimly to their tie with Minnesota, they probably will lose it tonight when the Gophers face Chicago. A Minnesota win over the Maroons will catapult its quint to a record of five wins and one defeat against Ohio's four wins and one defeat.

The meeting in Minnesota Saturday night between the Gophers and Scarlet and Gray, however, will definitely test to the breaking point Ohio's strength which thus far, on the offensive side, has averaged better than 40 points a game. It was a field day the Bucks indulged in against Chicago last Saturday night, the score being 52 to 25.

Forward Jimmy Hull hit the hoop for 23 points and spun himself into first place in the individual scoring race. His 81 points topping his closest contender, Pick Denner, Illinois center, by seven. Shooting successfully from all angles, Hull's form topped previously sterling endeavors as he completely baffled Chicago's none to formidable defense.

POP WARNER QUILTS JOB AT TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 30 — Possibility that Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, will return to Stanford as "consulting football coach," became stronger today with his revelation that he has resigned as head grid mentor of Temple university. Warner said he had planned to leave the Philadelphia university for some time, and had finally mailed his letter of resignation Friday to Temple Graduate Manager Earl R. Yeomans.

In 1932, after nine years as Stanford coach, Warner went to Temple at a reputed salary of $25,000. During his six years' tutelage at Temple his teams went to 31 wins, 18 losses and nine ties. His contract at Temple had another year to run.

Despite his eastern job, Warner maintained his home in Palo Alto and often expressed desire to spend his declining years in California. The famed football wizard said he had no definite offers of jobs, but "would like" a berth at Stanford. Rumors that he would be offered a post as "advisory" to his protegee, Stanford Coach "Tiny" Thornhill, have been heard for several days.

GROVEPORT EASY FOR ASHVILLE 5

Broncos Run Up 38 to 20 Score; Red And Black Freshmen Win

Ashville high school's varsity found Groveport easy, Saturday night, and ran up a 38-20 victory on the Harrison township court. The halftime score was 21-7.

Gregg and Walden with 10 points each and Hoover and Rose each with eight counters led the Bronco attack.

The Ashville reserves lost 7 to 24.

Circleville freshmen took an early lead, lost it and then overcame a hot Ashville freshman team to win a 24-22 thriller in a preliminary to the varsity contest. The Tiger frosh started like a house on fire and held a 14-2 lead at the half, Ashville failing to score until the end of the second period. But the third period found Jerry Peters and his teammates throwing the ball through the hoop from any spot on the court to tie up the contest at 16-all as the final period started.

A couple of buckets by Don Valentine and another by Gerald Ayers put the Tigers into a winning lead.

Peters was the star with 15 points. Failure of the Ashville boys to take advantage of foul shots cost them the game. The Harrison township lads were given 15 tries at the net from the charity line but connected for only four of them. Circleville hit for two out of five free throws.

NEWLY-ELECTED FARM BUREAU DIRECTORS PLAN ORGANIZATION FEB. 4

350 PERSONS AT ANNUAL SESSION HELD SATURDAY

Two Changes Made On Official Board During Election

MURRAY LINCOLN TALKS

Cooperative Efforts Cited In Address By Secretary

Directors of the Farm Bureau, elected at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon in Memorial hall, will organize next Saturday night at a meeting in the Farm Bureau home at 8 o'clock.

All directors with the exception of two were reelected. Those reelected are John G. Boggs, Circleville; T. M. Glick, and Lawrence Liston, Circleville township; A. E. Beers, Scioto township; M. G. Steeley, Washington township; C. K. Hunsicker, Deer Creek township; Ira C. Fisher, H. D. Hines, George M. Scothern and Mrs. Herman Berger, Walnut township; H. O. Peters, Madison township; S. B. Chambers, Mrs. Cora Rader Hood and Miss Mary McKenzie, Pickaway township; E. H. Fetherolf, Salt Creek township; C. D. Hosler, Monroe township; Glenn T. Grimes, Perry township, and Miss Mary Shortridge, Jackson township.

J. B. Stevenson, Wayne township, and Mrs. Harry Vincent, Darby township, were elected to the board succeeding Clay Hitler, Washington township, and Mrs. John Bell, Circleville township.

Glick Serving Now
Officers of the Farm Bureau during 1938 were Mr. Glick, president; Mr. Fisher, vice president; Mr. Steeley, secretary, and Mr. Fetherolf, treasurer.

A crowd estimated at 350 persons attended the annual meetings of the Farm Bureau and Pickaway Livestock association held Saturday.

Music for the afternoon session was provided by the Grange chorus under the direction of Mrs. James Moffitt, the Carpenter brothers, instrumental trio of Darbyville, and Franklin Ballard, of Tarleton. Two solo numbers were sung by Miss Elizabeth Reber, Walnut township, a member of the chorus.

Brief remarks were made by F. K. Blair, county extension agent; Guy Dowdy, of Columbus, former extension agent of Pickaway county; R. C. Palm, manager of the Pickaway Dairy Cooperative association; S. L. Warner, manager of the Pickaway Grain Co., and Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau.

Principal speaker for the meeting was Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau. His topic was "Cooperation, a Way of Living." He contended the economic future of the country will be solved largely through cooperative efforts.

J. Wright Noecker, Walnut township, was appointed to represent Pickaway county at the annual meeting of the Ohio Wool Growers Cooperative association meeting in Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday.

COMPLICATIONS CAUSE DEATH OF CURTIS TEETS, 59

Curtis Teets, 59, died at his home in Circleville township at 9:40 a. m. Sunday of complications following a long illness.

Mr. Teets was born in Hocking county on March 17, 1879 a son of George W. and Matilda Knight Teets. He was married Aug. 12, 1914 in Circleville to Mabel Boggs.

Surviving are the widow and five children, Iva Belle, Francis, Elsie Mae, Theodore and Matilda Ann, all at home; two brothers, Mathias, of Williamsport, and Nathan, of Circleville, and one sister, Mrs. Phoebe Bates, Circleville.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday in the Northend Mission church at 2 p. m. with the Rev. L. S. Metzler officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of M. S. Rinehart.

"I never heard of a vocal chorus to 'Chopsticks'," says Tommy, "but my version is going to have one. It will be the first ever, so no comparison or criticism will be possible. The same goes for my trombone solo."

Claypool's Capital Comment

DEFENSE—The introduction of a bill in the House of Representatives to give the Secretary of War blanket authority to provide up to 6,000 airplanes for the air corps, started off the legislation on the defense program. Two other measures were also introduced for this purpose. One authorized the appropriation of $32,500,000 for Army educational orders, and the other would establish 12 new naval aviation and submarine bases at the cost of 65 million dollars.

TRADE AGREEMENTS—Secretary of State, Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade agreement policy will run a severe test. Not only will the test come in Congress but in the markets of the world. The British-American trade agreement that went into effect on January 1 will be watched closely to see if it will result in an important expansion of demand. Trade relations at present between this country and Argentina are not entirely satisfactory, especially to that government, and this will probably result in a trade agreement between the two countries to iron out differences, at least for the time being. This will also be likely to apply to Brazil.

RAILROADS—Chairman Wheeler, of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, after a White House conference said he would introduce a measure to simplify reorganization, and repeal a clause in the ICC act that deals with consolidation. He stated that he was still opposed to repeal of the long and short haul clause even though railroads advocated its repeal or modification. In the meantime, Chairman Lea, of the House group announced that his committee will start hearings to work out a program for the railroads with hopes of early action from the House.

CASH FARM INCOME—Farmers received a total cash farm income, including Government payments, of $7,632,000,000 in 1938. The 1938 income compares with the revised estimate of $8,574,000,000 for 1937 and with $7,944,000,000 received by farmers in 1936. The estimate includes receipts from sales of farm products, Government payments and loans, minus redemptions, on wheat, corn and cotton. Cash income from farm marketings and unredeemed loans on cotton, wheat, and corn totaled $7,150,000,000 in 1938 and $8,208,000,000 in 1937. Income from crops declined from $3,846,000,000 in 1937 to $3,160,000,000 in 1938. The crop income was lower than the $3,457,000,000 received in 1936, but higher than for any years from 1931 to 1935.

"POSTALIZED" RAILWAY RATES—By riding in a coach, a New Yorker could travel to California for the small cost of $6. That is, if the "Postalized transportation rates" were in effect. This idea of Mr. John Hastings, a former member of the N. Y. State Senate is being studied by officials and it has been suggested that Congress authorize the ICC to investigate this proposal. The proposal is one of merely eliminating the distance factor in setting rates, not including urban and suburban areas, whereby fares would be fixed at a rate of, say, $1 in coaches for a trip within the time zones of the nation. A Railroad Authority would be created by Congress, under the plan, to direct operations but the actual operation of the roads would be left under private control.

AIR TRANSPORT SERVICE BETWEEN U. S. AND FRANCE—The American Embassy in Paris was instructed to present to the French Government a proposal for the granting to the Government of the U. S. of a permit for a temporary period of six months for one or more American air transport companies, authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Authority, to operate a transatlantic air service to France for the transportation of passengers, mail and goods. The French government has granted the temporary permit requested. According to the agreement, any American Company, before being allowed to undertake a transatlantic air service from the U. S., must obtain first, a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the CAA. The permit was requested for use by any American company or companies duly authorized by the Authority to operate a transatlantic service into and out of France authorizing a frequency of not exceeding four round trips per week for a period of 6 months from date of first flight. Assurances were given the French Government that upon the issuance of a temporary permit this Government would be willing to enter into negotiations with the French Government for the conclusion of a reciprocal air transport agreement, with the understanding, that such negotiations would not prejudice the operation of the transatlantic services which the temporary permit contemplated.

BEEF CATTLE—Slaughter supplies of grain-fed cattle are expected to increase somewhat more than seasonally during the next 4 or 5 months, and to be larger than a year earlier. The number of cattle on feed for market in the Corn Belt States on January 1 was about 7 percent larger than at the beginning of 1938, although still somewhat smaller than in most years of large corn supplies prior to 1934. Partly offsetting the increase in the number of cattle on feed were decreases in other important feeding areas. Slaughter supplies of the lower grades of cattle will probably continue to decrease seasonally throughout the Winter and Spring, and because of the withholding of cows from market for herd milking purposes are likely to be smaller than a year earlier. Consumer demand for meats is now stronger than a

SIX STOUTSVILLE DOGS VICTIMS OF POISON SPREADER

Fairfield county law officers have been asked to aid in apprehending a dog poisoner in Stoutsville. He is believed responsible for the deaths of six dogs in recent weeks.

The latest victim was "Big Sam," Walker fox hound owned by W. T. Crites. The dogs are believed to have been killed with arsenic or strychnine. Several of the dogs were valued highly by the owners.

THREE STATE MEETINGS DRAW MANY COUNTIANS

Numerous Circleville and Pickaway county residents were in Columbus Monday attending sessions of three large state meetings.

Rural folk are attending Farmers' Week at Ohio State university. Pastors and church folk of the county are attending the Ohio Pastors' convention and the Ohio Conference of Church Women. These meetings continue until Feb. 2.

year earlier. And it is probable that demand will be maintained during the first half of 1939, with some further improvement not unlikely. In the first half of 1938 there was a marked tendency for the demand for meats to weaken.

LOANS FILED

Twenty-one loans on the 1938 corn crop amounting to about $11,000 have been filed to date with the Pickaway County Agricultural Conservation office. Final date for filing for loans is March 31.

Sherwood to Start Work On Stop-Gap Relief Act

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30—A new stop-gap relief setup was in process of establishment today under the orders of Director Charles L. Sherwood of the Ohio welfare department in anticipation that the Bricker administration relief bill will pass the legislature this week.

Director Sherwood said that in conformity with the Bricker economy program he proposed to reduce executive personnel. "There will be no relief director appointed to succeed William C. Dixon who headed the state relief department under the Davey administration," Director Sherwood said.

"For the present the relief division will be operated with clerks in the welfare department, he continued. "Two persons will be assigned the duty of checking reports from county relief directors. They will ascertain if the reports are in proper form and that local administration conforms with the requirements of the law.

"The bill appropriates $5,000,000 which will be distributed only when matched by local political units. It covers only a six months period, so for at least that time we will attempt to operate with a skeletonized force in the Welfare Department.

"I do not believe that it will be necessary for the state to spend very much money on the routine job of certifying funds for distribution to the various cities and counties."

In Line With Revision

The director said that he thought the welfare department was in a better position to correlate the various functions of public assistance bodies than a separate relief department, and noted that passage of the relief bill giving his department responsibility for the $5,000,000 appropriation is in line with the administration's proposed revision of the welfare department, which plans the establishment of a division of Public Assistance.

Pending future developments, the director said, there will be no radical changes in the relation of the state to local relief authorities except in the matter of fund distribution which is dependent under the administration bill upon local participation.

"If there should be a necessity for a special relief division in the Welfare Department it will not be established until after the general appropriation bill for this biennium has been made effect," he concluded. "That is if we do set up a relief division it won't be until we have found we have to have one, and it won't be operated until July 1, when money is available."

The permit was requested for use by any American company or companies duly authorized by the Authority to operate a transatlantic service into and out of France authorizing a frequency of not exceeding four round trips per week for a period of 6 months from date of first flight. Assurances were given the French Government that upon the issuance of a temporary permit this Government would be willing to enter into negotiations with the French Government for the conclusion of a reciprocal air transport agreement, with the understanding, that such negotiations would not prejudice the operation of the transatlantic services which the temporary permit contemplated.

BEEF CATTLE—Slaughter supplies of grain-fed cattle are expected to increase somewhat more than seasonally during the next 4 or 5 months, and to be larger than a year earlier. The number of cattle on feed for market in the Corn Belt States on January 1 was about 7 percent larger than at the beginning of 1938, although still somewhat smaller than in most years of large corn supplies prior to 1934. Partly offsetting the increase in the number of cattle on feed were decreases in other important feeding areas. Slaughter supplies of the lower grades of cattle will probably continue to decrease seasonally throughout the Winter and Spring, and because of the withholding of cows from market for herd milking purposes are likely to be smaller than a year earlier. Consumer demand for meats is now stronger than a

SIX STOUTSVILLE DOGS VICTIMS OF POISON SPREADER

Fairfield county law officers have been asked to aid in apprehending a dog poisoner in Stoutsville. He is believed responsible for the deaths of six dogs in recent weeks.

The latest victim was "Big Sam," Walker fox hound owned by W. T. Crites. The dogs are believed to have been killed with arsenic or strychnine. Several of the dogs were valued highly by the owners.

THREE STATE MEETINGS DRAW MANY COUNTIANS

Numerous Circleville and Pickaway county residents were in Columbus Monday attending sessions of three large state meetings.

Rural folk are attending Farmers' Week at Ohio State university. Pastors and church folk of the county are attending the Ohio Pastors' convention and the Ohio Conference of Church Women. These meetings continue until Feb. 2.

year earlier. And it is probable that demand will be maintained during the first half of 1939, with some further improvement not unlikely. In the first half of 1938 there was a marked tendency for the demand for meats to weaken.

LOANS FILED

Twenty-one loans on the 1938 corn crop amounting to about $11,000 have been filed to date with the Pickaway County Agricultural Conservation office. Final date for filing for loans is March 31.
